Henry Clay, of Kentucky, Establishing a Deliberate Design, on the Part of the Late and Present Executive of the United States: To Break Down the Whole Banking System of the United States, Commencing With the Bank of the United States, and Terminating With the State Banks, and to Create on Their Ruins a Government Treasury Bank, Under the Exclusive Control of the Executive Mr. Clay rose, and addressed the Senate as follows: I have seen some public service, passed through many troubled times, and often addressed public assemblies, in this Capitol and elsewhere; but never before have I risen in a deliberative body, under more oppressed feelings, or with a deeper sense of joyful responsibility. Never before have I risen to express my opinions upon any public measure, fraught with such tremendous consequences to the welfare and prosperity of the country, and so perilous to the liberties of the people, as I solemnly believe the bill under consideration will be. If you knew, sir, what sleepless hours reflection upon it has...
