Reviews

This publication will be worth purchasing. It really is written in simple terms instead of difficult to understand. It has been designed in an exceptionally simple way and is particularly only right after I finished reading this ebook in which basically modified me, alter the way I believe.

Brand New Book  Print on Demand .The insights from Science on aspects of our day-to-day living expressed in poetry-make this book uniquely different. Human nature, lived, is the subject matter of this book of poems. I have drawn ideas from Science-mainly Evolutionary Biology-to illumine facets of human life, articulated in the rhymes and rhythms of verse. On death, for example, I attempt to provide insights from new physics notions on nothingness. Poems are my way of making sense of the human condition we all share and we all are in. In moments of silence, the big questions come to the surface and tug at our hearts for answers. Paul Dirac, a renowned British physicist, famously remarked that poets write not to be understood, while scientists write just the opposite. With the aim of being fully understood, I offer my word compositions, arising from reflections on a lifetime. Each poem in this collection tells a little story which draws illumination mainly from the widely under-appreciated, real Story of our Creation in the evolutionary Garden of Eden, in the savannahs in Africa. Our Creation story was not generated by pure inspiration and a rich imagination of a handful of ancient sages; but by the pyramid of facts and theories built over centuries, not by a few modern sages but literally by millions of individuals in various specific disciplines, exploring what is about us. The particular story of our creation-the theory of Evolution by Natural Selection-is just one layer in the pyramid we are ever building. The knowledge pyramid is ever expanding, undergoing continuous updates, checks and cross-checks. The poems in this book are my attempts at integrating my knowledge in Science to enrich my understanding on...
