Summary: For those who like the challenge of questions such as, "What is a megalaima haemacephala?", The World's Most Difficult Quiz, containing 30 years' worth of tests, is now available in book form for the first time in its 100-year history. The notoriously difficult quiz began life in 1905 at King Williams College, a private boys' boarding school on the Isle of Man. Initially, the test was mandatory; teachers thought up questions and schoolboys as young as 12 struggled for hours to produce the correct answers. If it looked remotely suitable, you'd [answer] Queen Elizabeth I or the Mad Hatter. The clever lads would get 25 questions right out of 180." In Cullen's era, after taking the test once, boys were sent home with the questions to research over the Christmas break. He remembers, "I would spend a lot of every Christmas holiday in the public library." Cullen's father helped out as well, making copies to send to friends. "He used to send it to my godfather,...
