The Golden Hind had been practically retracing her course, and might be anything from fifty to a hundred miles farther away from her goal than she had been when the storm enveloped her. Obedient to the action of the vertical rudders the airship swung back on her former course. The altimeter indicated a height of twelve thousand feet, and the Golden Hind was still rising. Three thousand feet below was an expanse of wind-torn clouds, no longer showing dark, but of a dazzling whiteness. The crew of the Golden Hind were literally looking on the bright side of things. Were well above the path of the storm, remarked Fosterdyke, gratefully. Weve a lot to be thankful for, but the fact remains we darent descend while that stuffs knocking about. Once in a lifetime is quite enough. Before any of his companions could offer any remark, Murgatroyd, the chief air-mechanic on duty, appeared through the hatchway. Sorry to have to report, sir, he announced, that the two after motors are both out of action. Blade smashed on the starboard prop, sir, and...
