With Euclid one of the simplest problems of this character was: Find the shortest line which may be drawn from a point to a line, and in the fifth book of the conics of Apollonius of Perga occur such problems as the determination of the shortest line which may be drawn from a point to a given conic section. It is thus seen that a sort of theory of maxima and minima was known long before the discovery of the differential calculus, and it may be shown that the attempts to develop this theory exercised considerable influence upon the discovery of the calculus. Fermat, for example, after making numerous restorations of two books of Apollonius, often cites this old geometer in his method for determining maximum and minimum 1638, a work which in some instances is so closely related to the calculus that Lagrange, Laplace, Fourier, and others wished to consider Fermat as the discoverer of the...
